

BOOK-O CLUES

Cut apart the strips and place them in a container. Draw them out one at a time and read them aloud. Players will cover the square that matches the information.

Her beady eyes opened. (B)	She dropped into black space. (B)
She didn't need to see. (B)	Echoes come singing back. (B)
The dark will soon be gone. (B)	Inside there are squeakings. (B)
Outside the birds were singing. (B)	When they asked him to join their team, he was as pleased as punch. (W)
They gave him tips as fast as they could think of them. (W)	He shook his befuddled head and kept listening. (W)
"Steal third! Steal third base!" (W)	"Get under the pop-up." (W)
It was as though a big cloud was gathering over his head. (W)	Make room for the fans. (W)
We shell butter beans and sweep the front porch. (F)	Last one in is a rotten egg! (F)
He's not allowed. (F)	I wiggle in my chair like a doodlebug. (F)
"You gonna eat those all by yourself?" (F)	Workers rake steaming asphalt into the hole. (F)
"I'll bring my good-luck nickel." (F)	We walk through the front door together. (F)
Hair of red, eyes of green (C)	He'd call their names out loud and strong. (C)
Hair of gold, eyes of blue. (C)	A wind blew down from Arkansas. (C)
It blew the fence plumb clean away. (C)	This went on throughout the day. (C)
It was always the same. (S)	The hole was as big as a whole dog. (S)
He wondered how far he could run without stopping. (S)	Whenever they saw a road that went up, they took it. (S)
Something about it made his fur stand up. (S)	But it didn't stop. (S)
Finally he glanced back. (S)	It must have been a very old fence. (S)

Key: B = BAT Loves the Night, C = Sixteen COWS, F = FREEDOM Summer, S = STANLEY's Wild Ride, and W = Batter Up, WOMBAT.